

Avoid excess duplication in occupational health and safety assessments using Safety Schemes in Procurement

What is SSIP?

Safety Schemes in Procurement (SSIP) is an umbrella organisation in which members provide health and safety assessment schemes to contractors working in the supply chain to demonstrate compliance with safety practices to potential clients. Assessments against the SSIP core criteria can be carried out standalone or in combination with BS EN ISO 45001.

How will SSIP benefit your company?

- Save time when tendering work with clients
- Reduce the number of health and safety assessments that need to be completed for different clients
- Access a wider range of contracts with the single standard of health and safety accreditation

Adstone Construction have used SCCS as our certification body since 2012, we have found their audit process to be informative, fair, and with excellent communication in their processes. The mature systems in place are the bedrock of our company and allows the business to evaluate and monitor performance and continue to grow.

Adstone Construction Ltd, SCCS Client

SCCS is the UKAS Accredited Certification Body (0021) specifically for companies engaged in design, manufacture and installation of building materials and associated products and services. The objective of the Scheme is to secure high standards of excellence and quality across all processes, procedures, and practices through independent certification to specific standards. The technical knowledge, practical skills and sector experience the team and auditors bring, makes SCCS the go to certification and auditing providers in the construction industry.
